INTRODUCTION

The West Indies Meteorological Service, which was a department of the now defunct Federal Government of the West Indies, was dissolved at the end of 1962. In its place a Caribbean Meteorological Service was established with a Jamaica Division, which is a part of the Jamaica Government's Ministry of Communications and Works, maintaining meteorological services for Jamaica and being responsible for publishing the Jamaica Weather Report.

The list of stations provides the most recent available information on the locations and elevations of stations. It would be appreciated if any errors can be notified to the Director, Meteorological Office, Palisadoes, under whose supervision the Report is prepared and published. Also included are the names of Authorities and private persons responsible for the operation and maintenance of stations. The extent and diversity of this list gives an indication of the considerable efforts made by a number of individuals in providing the basic data from which the final tabulations are derived. The Meteorological Division is also indebted to all the various observers, both official and voluntary, who regularly make weather observations and submit the data to the Meteorological Office.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

1. Local time, that is Eastern Standard Time, which is five hours behind Greenwich Mean Time, is used throughout this Report. The usual arrangement at climatological stations is for observations to be taken twice daily at 07h (7 a.m.) and 16h (4 p.m.) while at the synoptic stations at Morant Point Lighthouse, Negril Point Lighthouse, Palisadoes Airport and Montego Bay Airport (the last named station was established during March, 1962) observations are taken at 7 a.m., 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. and at other times but the summaries of some of the observations are not published in this Report.

2. Rainfall is measured in inches at 7 a.m. and the total for the previous 24 hours is regarded as having fallen on the previous day. A "day of rain" is a day on which at least 0.01 inch is recorded. The mean monthly rainfall for each Parish included in the Summary of Parish Rainfall is obtained by taking the total reported from all stations within the Parish and dividing by the number of stations from which data have been used in this connexion. The published Island rainfall is the mean of all the corresponding Parish rainfall averages.

3. Atmospheric pressure readings are converted to equivalent readings at mean sea level under conditions of standard temperatures and gravity and expressed in millibars, 1,000 millibars being equal to a pressure of 29.53 inches of mercury.

4. Cloud amounts are expressed in 'oktas', an 'okta' being one-eighth of the sky.

5. So far as is possible all instruments are sited in a manner aimed at giving fully representative readings, for example, all published temperature data are obtained from thermometers housed in louvered screens.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

JANUARY, 1964

Summary

Two "Northerns" crossed the island, one on the 2nd and the other on the 23rd, bringing cloudy conditions with rains over most of the island. A weak cold front located off the north coast of the island was associated with occasional cloudy and showery conditions on the 18th. Cool weather was also associated with these fronts.

Temperature

Apart from in hilly regions, temperatures were generally about 1° F above the average for the month.

Rainfall

Mean Island rainfall was 119% of the normal for the month. The four parishes St. James, St. Catherine, St. Elizabeth and Westmoreland, experienced deficient rainfall, but all other parishes showed above-normal rainfall.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE
JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT
MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

FEBRUARY, 1964

Summary

Scattered showers occurred in various localities throughout the island. A weak "Norther" associated with light showers moved across the island on the 23rd. Otherwise, there were no significant features.

Temperature

Temperature was between 1°F and 4°F above the average, with the smallest deviations from the average occurring along southern coastal regions.

Rainfall

Mean Island rainfall was 82% of the normal for the month. Deficient rainfall was experienced in the north-eastern, eastern and south-eastern sections of the island.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

MARCH, 1964

Summary

There were reports of strong, gusty southerly winds along the south coastal areas between the 2nd and the 4th, with speeds of 20 to 25 knots persisting throughout the 2nd in some exposed localities. Cloudy conditions with scattered showers on the 7th and 8th were associated with a weak convergence zone which affected the island. A moderate cold front moved across the island on the 31st when "Norther" conditions were experienced.

Temperature

Along the northern and north-eastern coastal regions temperatures rose 3°F to 4°F above the average for the month. In other areas temperatures were only 1°F to 2°F above the average.

Rainfall

Mean Island rainfall was 60% of the normal for the month. All parishes showed deficient rainfall.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

APRIL, 1964

Summary

SUMMARY Cloudy conditions accompanied by showers and thunderstorms were experienced in various localities throughout the island. An upper level trough of low pressure was located in the vicinity of the island on the 16th. This feature brought heavy showers, especially along the south coast.

Temperatures

Temperatures were slightly below the average in south-eastern coastal regions, but 1°F to 2°F above the average in other southern coastal regions and 3°F to 4°F above the average in northern and north-eastern districts.

Rainfall

Mean Island rainfall was 139% of the normal for the month. The parishes of Portland, St. Elizabeth and Westmoreland were the wettest. All other parishes except St. James, Trelawny, St. Catherine and Clarendon received above-normal rainfall.

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

MAY, 1964

Summary

Summary
Local showers and thunderstorms were experienced in various localities of the island throughout the month. On the 6th, cloudy conditions mainly along the northeast coast were associated with a quasi-stationary front lying just off the northeast coast of the island. Islandwide rains on the 30th were associated with an active trough of low pressure, located off the west coast. Strong winds occurred along Coastal areas.

Temperatures

Temperatures were 1°F to 2°F above average in eastern and north-eastern districts, average in south-eastern ones and about 4°F above the average in some northern areas.

Rainfall

Mean Island rainfall was 81% of the normal for the month. Rainfall was deficient throughout the island generally.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

JUNE, 1964

Summary

An Easterly wave was located off the east coast of the island on the 30th. Occasional squally showers with strong gusts were associated with this wave feature. Otherwise, local showers and thunderstorms, heavy at times, occurred in both interior and coastal areas.

Temperature

Apart from in eastern and northern areas where temperatures were about 2°F above the average, temperatures were within 1°F above the average throughout the island.

Rainfall

Rainfall Mean island rainfall was 98% of the normal for the month. Portland, normally the wettest parish, was among the five parishes which experienced deficient rainfall. Northern and western parishes in general received above-normal rainfall.

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

JULY, 1964

Summary

Summary Three Easterly waves moved across the island during the first half of the month, with attendant showers and thunderstorms throughout the island. Strong gusts of wind with speeds reaching up to 40 knots were experienced in isolated areas. Fair to fine periods persisted on many days throughout the month.

Temperature

Temperatures were about average throughout the island.

Rainfall

Mean Island rainfall was 115% of the normal for the month. Except for the parish of St. James, all other northern parishes, along with northern, north-eastern and eastern parishes received above-normal rainfall.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE
JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT
MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS
AUGUST, 1964

Summary

Overcast skies associated with showers and thunderstorms which were at times violent, occurred on several days throughout the month. Easterly wave features imbedded in very moist unstable air masses in the Caribbean, accounted for the showery conditions experienced.

Tropical storms Abby, Brenda, Cleo and Dora formed during the month. Cleo later developed into a hurricane during the month. Cleo came nearest to Jamaica, to within 100 miles off the northeast coast of the island; and though none of these disturbances directly affected Jamaica, Cleo was responsible for three deaths elsewhere in its wake.

Temperature

Along northern and north-eastern coastal regions temperatures were 1°F to 2°F above the average for the month. In western districts temperatures were only slightly above the average.

Rainfall

Mean island rainfall was 105% of the normal for the month. Rainfall was well distributed throughout the island. The six parishes of Hanover, St. Mary, St. Thomas, Kingston and St. Andrew, Manchester and St. Elizabeth received above-normal rainfall.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

OCTOBER, 1964

Summary

Squally showers and thunderstorms experienced throughout the island were associated with the passage of a number of cold fronts which moved across the island south-eastwards from the United States. Easterly waves moving westwards over the Caribbean were also associated with the showery conditions in Jamaica.

Hurricane Hilda continued during the month, and with hurricane Isbell were the only two disturbances charted for the month. Hurricane Hilda was responsible for thirty-eight deaths along its path.

Temperature

Temperatures were slightly below the average, except in some north-western and southern districts where excess values of 2°F to 3°F occurred.

Rainfall

Mean island rainfall was 90% of the normal for the month. The five parishes of Hanover, Trelawny, Portland, St. Thomas and Manchester, showed slightly above-normal rainfall. Rainfall was either about normal or deficient in other parishes.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

SEPTEMBER, 1964

Summary

Squally showers and thunderstorms occurred in various localities throughout the island. However, there were periods of fair weather generally throughout the Caribbean. Squally weather was mainly associated with upper level low pressure systems as well as with Easterly wave features.

The month was an active one, with four disturbances, Dora, Ethel, Gladys, Hilda, reaching hurricane intensity, and one Florence of tropical storm intensity during the month. Dora was responsible for five deaths along its path outside of Jamaica.

Temperature

In western and northern districts temperatures were 2°F to 3°F above the average for the month. Average temperatures were experienced in north-eastern and some southern districts.

Rainfall

Mean island rainfall was 90% of the normal for the month. Rainfall was slightly above normal in the parishes of St. James and Westmoreland, but deficient elsewhere.

WEST INDIES METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

JAMAICA WEATHER REPORT

MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OBSERVATIONS

NOVEMBER, 1964

Summary

Summary Apart from showers associated with the formation of a depression in the Western Caribbean, weather conditions throughout the month were normal.

Temperature

Temperatures were slightly below the average in most localities. However, exposed southern coastal regions experienced slightly above average temperatures.

Rainfall

Mean island rainfall was 80% of the normal for the month. All parishes showed deficient rainfall which was well-marked in the parishes of Portland, St. Thomas, Kingston and St. Andrew and St. Catherine.
